"The Republican National Lawyers Association congratulates Judge Jennifer Choe Groves. Judge Groves is dedicated upholding the rule of law, as well as providing independent, consistent, fair, and impartial interpretation and application of the law. We wish her much success at the United States Court of International Trade," said Kimberly Reed, Co-Chair of the Republican National Lawyers Association.

"For those who know or have worked with Jennifer over the years, there is absolutely no doubt that she brings the kind of temperament and experience that we all look for in a judge serving on the U.S. Court of International Trade. Because the Court has significant responsibilities in international trade and contributes to the rule of law in the U.S. and globally, the RNLA is especially pleased to have one of our own serving on the bench. It has been a privilege knowing Jennifer and her husband over the years - as fellow lawyers, devoted parents and steadfast friends - and we wish them every continued success," former RNLA President and Current Board Member J.C. Boggs III.

RNLA Executive Director Michael Thielen stated: "The RNLA was privileged to count Jennifer Choe Groves among our ranks and as part of our leadership team in the past. She will make a great addition to the U.S. Court of International Trade."
